#5: Colorful Jewels to Warm Their Winter

December 13, 2013 by BRITTANY SIMINITZ

The holidays are all but here, and you can expect a range of shoppers coming through the door. You'll see everyone from newlyweds to new parents, long-time loves to close family members and best friends. Each one will have different needs from the next—some on a mission, some clueless. So to get you prepped, we've put together a series of mini holiday shopping guides for all of your customers' needs.

The warmth of the holiday season is contagious. But once we ring in the new year, we're left with only the cold of winter and our dreams of warmer weather and budding spring flowers. To help them pass the wintry post-holiday season, share your brightest collection of shimmering shades—10 of the latest arrivals in color round out my final holiday gift guide for 2013.
